

Please Join Us!

Self-Advocates In Leadership (SAIL) meets on the second Tuesday of each month on the SAIL Zoom and occasionally at Sea-Tac Radisson.

We are dedicated to fighting for the rights and power of people with intellectual and developmental disabilities through changing public policy in the legislature.

For more information, please contact

Self-Advocates in Leadership

Administrative Coordinator: Jessica Renner

Phone: (360) 357-5596, ext. 3

Email: SAIL@arcwa.org

Policy Coordinator: Shawn Latham

Phone: (253) 304 – 5762

Email: shawn@arcwa.org

Website:

<https://www.selfadvocatesinleadership.com/>

2026
Washington
State
Legislative Agenda

Our Medical Equipment belongs with us

SAIL wants to ensure that medical equipment, such as wheelchairs, is transported to where we are in times of emergencies.

Transportation

SAIL members want to see access to reliable, safe, and affordable transportation across Washington State, including the rural parts. We need more funding for public transportation and better options in the private sector.

Shut them Down

SAIL believes people with IDD belong in the community and not in restrictive congregate settings like institutions. It is far past time to Shut Them Down!!!

Increase Housing and Residential Options

We are advocating for increases in housing and residential options to support all people in the community. We want to see more low-income, accessible housing options. We also need improved services to assist people with housing transitions.

Preserving State Core Services

During this time of budget difficulties and Federal Changes, SAIL members are keen to ensure that the core services we use every day are funded, so people with intellectual and developmental disabilities can live fully in the community. No cuts!!

Ending the Community Protection Program

The community protection program was set up to help people with IDD who need more supervision. Unfortunately, this program has become too restrictive and hard to graduate from. SAIL believes it's time to end this program.